Mr. Bennerman
Deputy Director for Support

Dear Mr. Bannerman:

I hope that I am not being presumtive in writing after my resignation from the Agency. Even though I am no longer employed by the Agency, I feel that I have a few observations that maybe helpful to the Agency in regards to financial control and budget planning.

The enclosed outline gives a brief describtion of the program. The imput for the computer is taken from codes written on checks by the user, and the program automatically gives a monthly and year-to-date accumulation of expenditures. The program also has a budget option.

I believe that the Agency could use a standard cable formate to report expenditures to Headquarters, and the receiver could be tied on line to a computer. It appears, to a layman like myself, that it would be a relatively simple matter to produce a computer program to accommodate the Agency's requirements. The program could give you current month expenditures year-to-date accumulations and variances from budgeted amounts, broken down by project and object class. Although, expenditures would have to be reconciled and audited at a later date, the current information would greatly increase the utiliz Amproved For Release f 2004/05/112s CIA-RDP78-04723 A000100070015-3
